Focus on our academic mission – our commitment to providing every student with an education that extends beyond the simple transmission of knowledge and skills to a concept of learning as a broad, integrated and transformational process.

Provide the resources necessary to support academic departments, programs, facilities and information technology services (ITS) at a level that ensures excellence in the fulfillment of our academic mission. For example: renovation of the Fondren-Jones science building; the addition of faculty in key areas of the curriculum, including interdisciplinary programs; resources for the A. Frank Smith, Jr. Library Center as an essential support unit of the academic program; and continued support for extra-departmental programs such as the First-Year Seminar, Advanced Entry Seminar and Paideia Programs. Because renovation of the Fondren-Jones science building is the highest fundraising priority, fundraising for this building will be initiated in the early stages of the plan.

Progress Report

2011-2012

- Under a new vice president for information services and chief information officer, the A. Frank Smith Library and Information Technology Services are integrating efforts to better serve all constituencies through effective management of information increasingly dependent on digital resources.
- $500,000 from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation will assist with the Paideia Program.
- $1.3 million received from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI) to transform Southwestern's undergraduate science education program by implementing an "inquiry-based" curriculum across all departments in its Natural Sciences Division – Animal Behavior, Biology, Chemistry and Biochemistry, Kinesiology, Mathematics and Computer Science, and Physics.
- In the early stages of forming a partnership with The Methodist Hospital Research Institute (TMHRI) to create a Master's Degree program in Clinical Translation.
- $6 million raised for a new science facility.

2010-2011

 A task force is studying the possibility of revising policies regarding the portability of financial aid to support study abroad.

Focus on our academic mission – our commitment to providing every student with an education that extends beyond the simple transmission of knowledge and skills to a concept of learning as a broad, integrated and transformational process.

Continue our curriculum commitments that were initiated in our Strategic Plan for 2010, including the implementation of a four-credit course model commencing Fall 2010. In the first half of the plan's life, we will fully implement curricular revisions, which will include decreasing the number of courses students take overall. At the same time, due to the planned growth of the student body, we will gradually increase the number of students at Southwestern. We will monitor these changes so that, even during the transition, we can ensure that class sizes remain at a level that provides students with high quality faculty-student interactions in and out of the classroom. In the first 4-5 years of the strategic plan's 10-year life, as we make these changes, we will assess how they will affect the academic needs of the institution in specific areas. In the second half of the plan's life, we will act on those needs by increasing tenured and tenure-track faculty and staff in needed areas, including interdisciplinary programs.

Progress Report

2011 - 2012

Southwestern's Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) – interdisciplinary teaching and learning to transform Paideia – was introduced as part of Southwestern's ten-year reaffirmation of accreditation required by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC).

Focus on our academic mission – our commitment to providing every student with an education that extends beyond the simple transmission of knowledge and skills to a concept of learning as a broad, integrated and transformational process.

Focus on recruiting, enrolling and retaining an increasingly diverse and academically excellent student body composed of developing scholars committed to a broad-based liberal arts and sciences education and an in-depth exploration of an area of study. We will continue to diversify our student body, not only because we want to offer our educational experience to a wider range of individuals, but also because we believe that student body diversity enhances our overall academic discourse and contributes to a more vibrant learning environment. Our focus on visibility and recognition in this plan is expected to contribute greatly to recruiting and enrolling a diverse group of bright, well-prepared and academically engaged students.

Progress Report

2013-2014

Enrollment for Fall 13 was 1536, a 10.2% (142 students) increase from previous year. 2011-2012

1,347 men and women enrolled Fall 2011. Minority students constitute 27% of the student body. 64% of 2613 applicants were admitted. Of 344 first-year students in Fall 2011, 45% ranked in the top 10 percent of their high school class. The average SAT score was 1221. 87% of students are from Texas and 13% are from other states and nations. 33 states and 10 countries are represented.

2010-2011

 Based on research conducted by the strategic enrollment advising firm of Scannell & Kurz, determining the most effective models for awarding financial assistance to prospective students. Update – consultant discontinued 2011.

Focus on our academic mission – our commitment to providing every student with an education that extends beyond the simple transmission of knowledge and skills to a concept of learning as a broad, integrated and transformational process.

Provide for the continuing support and development of our faculty, whose passion for and commitment to teaching is grounded in a rich engagement in research, scholarship and creative pursuits, and of our highly dedicated and talented staff. During the first half of the 10-year plan, focus resources on compensation stability and professional development funds for existing faculty and staff; and in the second half of the plan, anticipate growth in faculty and an improvement in comparative national rankings for compensation.

Progress Report

2011-2012

Grant support for faculty scholarship:

- A National Science Foundation grant to combine math with art by analyzing what properties of an object are preserved when you draw or take pictures of it from various angles and has applications for creating movie special effects, video games and augmented reality.
- Two Fulbright Fellowships for faculty to 1)teach a course on Hispanic film at the Universidad Católica Santísima Concepción in Concepción, Chile 2) teach at Ashesi University in Ghana and researching high-integrity businesses in the developing world.
- Andrew W. Mellon Foundation recently awarded $720,000 to Southwestern for a four-year project to do faculty development in writing in the disciplines.
- The Paideia Endowment provides budget support for faculty development in operating courses under Paideia.

Focus on our academic mission – our commitment to providing every student with an education that extends beyond the simple transmission of knowledge and skills to a concept of learning as a broad, integrated and transformational process.

Ensure that our students have transformative experiences in the world by creating more opportunities for students to experience a global education. To achieve this goal, we need to increase opportunities for students to study abroad by revising policies regarding the portability of Southwestern financial aid and by developing program partnerships across the globe. Further, we should enhance current student exchange programs as an avenue as well as an opportunity to increase international student enrollment at Southwestern.

Progress Report

2012-2013

 For international student admission, admission policies reviewed and updated, providing reasonable fee expectation to assure Visa and I-20 issuance. First-year student enrollment for 2012 resulted in three students. As a result of implementation of web changes Director follow-up and scholarship programming, Fall 2013, 14 international students enrolled.

2011-2012

- The portability of financial aid for study abroad has not been approved. However, $100,000 from the Paideia Endowment is to help student fund travel.
- We are increasing our International student recruitment effort.
 The Director of Admissions has assumed the role of international student recruitment exclusively, a budget is now in place to provide scholarships for international students and we have attended national conferences to bring heightened attention to our international recruitment. The website has been enhanced and simplified to support international student admission.

2010-2011

 A task force is studying the possibility of revising policies regarding the portability of financial aid to support study abroad.

SUPPORTING STRATEGY: Enhance our Campus Experience and Residence Life

Create a more vibrant, diverse and student-friendly campus that will enhance our campus experience and the quality of student life, and will contribute to attracting and retaining students that are best able to benefit from Southwestern University's academic mission.

A. Enhancement of Campus Activities and Residence Life

Areas for Action, page 1:

Continue to build a thriving intercollegiate athletics program, expand intramural and recreational activities, and enhance our recreational facilities and equipment. We are committed to ensuring that the athletics program is in keeping with the culture of Southwestern, and we expect that action on this priority will serve to enrich our campus life, enable a strong athletics program, promote the health and well-being of our students, and contribute to student recruitment and retention.

Progress Report

2011 - 2012

- Head football coach and head Women's lacrosse coaches hired.
- Facilities Improvement completed renovation of varsity men's locker room; installed new scoreboard and sound system for soccer and lacrosse; installed new batting cages for baseball and softball; and added a weight station in the existing weight room.
 Began site preparation for two new playing fields and construction will soon begin for a field house and baseball locker room
- A thorough cost/need analysis for athletic and recreational facilities is informing expansion and fundraising.

2010-2011

 Completed a thorough cost/needs analysis for athletic and recreational facilities.

SUPPORTING STRATEGY: Enhance our Campus Experience and Residence Life

Create a more vibrant, diverse and student-friendly campus that will enhance our campus experience and the quality of student life, and will contribute to attracting and retaining students that are best able to benefit from Southwestern University's academic mission.

Further develop the existing group of excellent student activities. Build on successful campus-wide social events/programs, student-initiated organizations and events, and religious activities. Utilize existing space in ways that will enhance student life; create a venue for over-21-year-old student events; and determine how best to capture our Greek Life potential.

Progress Report

2011-2012

Student Activities

- To build a more vibrant, diverse, and gender-balanced community, a diversity component was added to all First-Year Seminars and outreach programs addressing sexual assault, risk reduction, alcohol awareness, suicide prevention, stress management or eating disorders are being held annually
- Related to the addition of age 21 and over event space,
 Southwestern's application for a liquor license in the Cove was not granted.
- The highly successful Friday Night Live program was revamped by adding Southwestern student talent to the already popular Austin area and national touring acts.
- The addition of a weekly chapel service utilizing contemporary music and the expansion of Destination: Service Seminar Trips are enhancing religious life.

- The Enhancement of Greek Life Task Force is determining how to best capture Greek life potential.
- Initiating efforts to strengthen Religious Life through weekly chapel services, expanded Destination: Service opportunities, and increased Inter-Faith Dialogues programs

SUPPORTING STRATEGY: Enhance our Campus Experience and Residence Life

Create a more vibrant, diverse and student-friendly campus that will enhance our campus experience and the quality of student life, and will contribute to attracting and retaining students that are best able to benefit from Southwestern University's academic mission.

A. Enhancement of Campus Activities and Residence Life

Areas for Action, page 4:

Commence building a stronger Residence Life program. In focusing on student satisfaction and retention, improve the staffing of first-year residence halls and find creative ways to build community, including the development of special-interest housing designed around areas closely related to the academic core.

SUPPORTING STRATEGY: Build Far-Reaching Visibility and Recognition

Build far-reaching visibility and recognition for the University as an exceptional national undergraduate liberal arts and sciences institution known for engaging minds and transforming lives.

Evaluate the name of the institution as part of the overall visibility and recognition effort, commission market research on the University's name, and use the research findings to make strategic decisions about keeping the name Southwestern University or changing it. If a change is warranted, undertake a name change process that is transparent and inclusive of the University's stakeholders.

Progress Report

2011-2012

Following a thorough review of and discussion about the findings of the name recognition research, Southwestern's Board of Trustees unanimously approved the following motion on January 28, 2011: "In support of the overarching vision for Southwestern University in the Strategic Plan, the Board reaffirms its commitment to build far-reaching visibility and recognition by conducting the adequately funding a comprehensive visibility campaign using the name Southwestern University."

- Presenting results of the name recognition research and recommendations to the Board of Trustees for consideration at the Mid-Winter meeting (January 27 and 28). Action steps will be taken based on any decision made by the Board.
- Continuing communication with alumni and other constituencies, including posting the name recognition research findings.
