INFORMATION ABOUT LIFE AS THE PARENT OF A PIRATE

2023
A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am delighted to welcome you to the Southwestern University community. When I arrived three years ago, I was greeted with kindness and outreach by students, faculty, and alumni. You can expect the same as your student embarks upon the Southwestern Experience, a four-year journey of intellectual and creative growth that will lay the groundwork for a lifetime of engagement, discovery, independent thought, and meaningful accomplishment.

We are the first institution of higher education in the Southwestern United States, and after 183 years, we are among the most selective residential undergraduate liberal arts and sciences universities in the country. Southwestern dedicates itself today to working with students and providing a transformational educational and personal experience that focuses upon the whole person through both the classroom and co-curricular programming. The life of a Southwestern student is a busy one with opportunities for study abroad, internships, faculty-undergraduate research, community partnerships, fraternities and sororities, intramurals, as well as collegiate sports.

You can expect that we will see each other on campus, perhaps on my Friday morning weekly walks or during my open office hours every Friday afternoon.

On behalf of all of us, we are so very glad your student chose Southwestern.

Sincerely,

Laura E. Skandera Trombley
President
GETTING CONNECTED

Welcome to our newest Pirate Parents! We are eager to see you and your student on campus for Sprog and at move-in this fall. Our goal is to introduce you to Southwestern and inform you of everything you need to know this summer. The Office of Alumni and Parent Relations, along with others on campus, will be here every step of the way to answer your questions and share the most current information available. We view parents as our partners as we support students in their journey to learn to solve their own problems and chart their own course. We want your student to experience the challenges, joys, excitement, independence, and growth that are all part of the first-year experience at a residential liberal arts university.

The Office of Alumni and Parent Relations will serve as your connection to the University for the latest news and event invitations and also as your first point of contact when questions arise. You will hear from the University regularly, including Southwestern, the University magazine; News from SU for Parents, a monthly electronic newsletter; invitations to campus events; and much more. The Southwestern Parents Facebook Group is also a great place to connect with fellow SU families.

We look forward to welcoming your family to Southwestern soon.

Sincerely,

Grace Josey Pyka
Director of Parent Relations

What does my student need to do to remain in good academic standing? Students must maintain a 2.0 cumulative GPA after each semester and pass 24 total graded credits each academic year. Students who do not meet both requirements will be placed on academic probation. First-semester students have the additional requirement of needing to complete a minimum of eight credits in order to return the following semester. Academic standing is based only on coursework attempted at Southwestern. Additional information on academic standing may be found in the University Catalog.

How will my student interact with their academic advisor? New students are assigned a professional academic advisor through the orientation process. The professional advisors will work with new students through their entire first year. Professional advisors are the experts in best practices in advising, University policies, degree requirements, course planning, support services, and student development. New students will meet with their professional advisor during Sprog (new student orientation). Generally, advisors meet with students during posted office hours or by appointment. All students must meet with their advisor prior to course registration each semester. After the first year, students are assigned to a faculty or staff advisor who will guide students through the rest of their academic career. Faculty members are required to hold office hours each week and are also typically available by appointment. Our faculty are committed to the teacher-scholar model of instruction with the expectation of active learning where students take responsibility for their academic experience. Although advisors are concerned with each advisee’s academic welfare, it is ultimately the student’s responsibility to initiate contact with the advisor.

How is the first year of study selected? What is an average academic load? Students will be enrolled in a First-Year Seminar (or Advanced-Entry Seminar if they are a transfer student), at least one introductory course in their major of interest, and will have the opportunity to select additional courses through Sprog over the summer. Returning students register online through a process coordinated by the Registrar’s Office. The professional academic advisors are available all summer by phone and email to answer questions about the registration process and assist with any schedule changes. It is important that students check their new Southwestern email address frequently during the summer for important details regarding registration tasks. Typically, students take an average of 16 credits (four classes at four credits each) each semester.

When do we find out how much credit our student receives for AP or IB tests? Advanced Placement (AP) test scores of four or five always earn credit; an International Baccalaureate (IB) score of at least five earns credit. Academic advisors will have this information to help facilitate registration. Students also receive a copy of their credit evaluation from the Registrar. For more information, visit southwestern.edu/academics/records-registrar/policies-for-acceptance-of-external-academic-credit.

What happens if a faculty member has a concern about a student’s performance in class? Faculty are able to inform the staff of specific problems in a student’s performance, attendance, or engagement through an online alert system. Every faculty member is expected to participate in the system. The goal of the system is to identify students (first-years through seniors) who demonstrate signs of academic distress and provide additional resources for success. The student is also encouraged to follow up with their professor. First-year students will meet with their advisor to create a plan for improvement. Peer mentors are available to meet with students as well. Although faculty members and staff are always on the lookout for students who may be struggling, it is ultimately a student’s responsibility to take the first step in seeking help and guidance, which is readily available through a variety of campus resources.
What grading system does Southwestern use?
Southwestern uses an A, B, C, D, F grading system; the grades of A, B, C, and D may be awarded with a plus or minus. In addition, a grade of P (pass for a C– or better) may be awarded but does not count in a student's grade point average (GPA). Please refer to the University Catalog for specific instructions on determining a GPA and for additional details regarding the grading system.

Are semester grades sent to parents? In order for parents/guardians to view grades online, the student will need to grant proxy access through the Self Service website. Once access is provided, parents/guardians will have the ability to view each semester’s mid-term and final grades and the cumulative GPA. Proxy access from a student is effective until rescinded by the student. When students grant proxy access to release grade information, the proxy access only covers final course grades.

Who can talk to me about my student’s academic performance, and what can they tell me? The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) prohibits the release of student information without written consent from the student. Southwestern University complies with this law. Although some students may still be their parent’s financial (and perhaps legal) responsibility, this does not entitle the parent’s access to student data. When students grant proxy access to release grade information, the proxy access only covers final course grades. If your student gives written consent to faculty or an administrator to discuss their progress with you, only the information specifically stated in the release will be discussed.

What is Paideia®? Paideia is Southwestern’s philosophy of making connections by bringing together multiple perspectives from different disciplines. Students integrate different ways of learning across their major, between disciplines, and in relation to both in- and out-of-classroom experiences such as community-engaged learning, study abroad, academic internships, student-faculty research, advanced language proficiency, and student-directed creative and innovative projects. Students graduate with a cultivated curiosity and desire to learn, explore, and create change. These are the valuable, real-life skills that make SU graduates highly sought-after by recruiters, employers, and the nation’s top graduate programs. Learn more at southwestern.edu/about-southwestern/paideia.

ONLINE RESOURCES FOR SOUTHWESTERN FAMILIES

In accordance with FERPA (federal law protecting student records), the University provides students with the opportunity to share selected data with parents/guardians. If invited by your student, you will be able to create usernames and passwords to access helpful data and services in the following platforms.

SELF SERVICE
Your student may enable access to view the following types of information within Self Service:
- Financial Aid required documents
- Financial Aid Awards, and Award Letter
- Mid-term and End of Semester Grades
- Tax Information

To be established as a proxy, the parent must be associated with the student’s record in our Student Information System and have an email address on file. When the student designates a proxy and selects the information that may be accessed, that user will receive emails identifying their login credentials.

Instructions for granting proxy access may be found at:

For Self Service login and proxy access issues contact the Info Desk at infodesk@southwestern.edu.

TRANSACT PARENT PORTAL
Your student may designate an individual as a Payer, who can then do the following:
- View student balance
- View E-bills - current & prior statements
- Make online payments (ACH, credit card, & International payments)
- View all prior payments made in Transact
- Enroll in & manage payment plans
- Manage billing alerts

In order for the student to grant access, the student must log into their Transact Portal and under “My Account” choose “Send a payer invitation” to the new payer using their email address. Transact will send an email with a link to the new payer.

Authorized payers can access Transact Payer Portal at:

For support, contact Student Accounts at studentaccounts@southwestern.edu or 512.863.1928

VIRTUAL CHECKLIST
Students and parents may access the Virtual Checklist for Success to explore enrollment-related events leading to Move-in, including:
- Confirmation when documents have been received/processed
- Upcoming deadlines and action items

Students may designate any person to view the Checklist. Users can access the Virtual Checklist at:

Once the fall semester begins, the Virtual Checklist will be deactivated.

For technical support, contact digital@southwestern.edu.
1. Online Student Account Access via Transact Payment Portal – In Transact, authorized individuals can view E-Bills, make online payments, set up a payment plan, or receive alerts. In addition, student account statements are sent electronically to the student and any authorized payer. Students can authorize access to their Transact account to parents (or other individuals) by sending a payer invitation from their Transact account. Detailed instructions are found at southwestern.edu/business-office/student-accounts/accessing-student-account-information.

2. Online Proxy Access for Financial Aid Information – In order for parents/guardians to see information about the status of the student’s financial aid, a student will need to grant proxy access to the parent through the Self Service website. Detailed instructions for setting up access for this can be found at: southwestern.edu/scholarships-financial-aid/self-service-information/.

My student does not have health insurance. Can we purchase a policy through Southwestern?
Yes. If you do not have health insurance coverage or choose to use the Southwestern University student health insurance policy, you are strongly encouraged to complete early enrollment online so that your insurance card will be available on the effective date of coverage, August 10, 2023. Visit eiiia.org/institution/southwestern-university to complete the form.

When will financial aid be disbursed to my student’s account?
Financial aid disbursements for the fall term begin in mid-August and in early January for the spring term. Until the aid is disbursed to a student’s account, financial aid will appear on billing statements as either “confirmed” or “needs attention.” Confirmed aid is aid that will be disbursed in August (for the fall term) or January (for the spring term). Only confirmed financial aid is considered when determining a student’s balance.

Will all financial assistance automatically renew from year to year? No. Need-based financial aid such as federal grants, state grants, Southwestern University need-based grants, and student loans require that a family submit a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each year. The FAFSA may be submitted online at www.studentaid.gov and can be accessed through the Financial Aid website. The deadline for submitting the FAFSA is March 1 of each year. Financial aid notices will be sent out in the spring. Most types of merit-based financial aid (e.g., Cody, Finch, Garey, Hyer, McKenzie, Mood, Ruter, Southwestern, and University Awards) are renewed each year, provided that the student maintains satisfactory academic progress as defined in the University Catalog. Some scholarships (e.g., the Brown Scholarship and Fine Arts Awards) have additional renewal criteria. Information about scholarship renewal criteria can be obtained from the Financial Aid website.

Are there scholarship opportunities available for continuing students?
Yes. There are a limited number of non-need-based scholarship opportunities for continuing students. Information about these scholarships is available on the Financial Aid website at southwestern.edu/scholarships-financial-aid/current-students/.

When does my student reapply for financial aid for the upcoming year? The FAFSA will be available late in the fall semester. The deadline for submitting the FAFSA for the upcoming academic year is March 1.

How can my student view their financial aid information?
Your student may view this information through their Self Service account. Information about how a student may access their Self Service account may be found at southwestern.edu/scholarships-financial-aid/self-service-information/.

Are students required to bring their own computers?
Students are not required to own a computer, although most do; 100% of the entering class brought a computer last year, with laptops being the most popular. If a student does not have a computer, Southwestern has several open labs and public computer workstations available in various locations around campus. Our most popular lab and printing facility is located in the A. Frank Smith, Jr. Library Center, which is open 24 hours a day, five days per week, with reduced weekend hours.

If my student brings a computer, should they also bring a printer?
A personal printer is not a necessity. Our student labs and various accessible locations across campus are equipped with high-speed laser printers; color laser printing is also available.

How much does it cost to print pages in the campus computer labs? All students are allotted $30 each semester for printing. Page rates are priced below commercial alternatives (e.g., FedEx Office), and students rarely exceed the initial $30; however, additional “Pirate Print” dollars can be purchased if their account runs low.

Is Southwestern a wireless campus?
Yes. Wireless access is available in all campus buildings and many outside areas. However, to ensure uninterrupted Internet service in all residence halls, students may bring an Ethernet cable to use with their personal computers.

If my student already has a personal email account, do they need a University email account? Yes. All students are required to maintain an active Southwestern email account for University communications. This account will become an integral part of their daily communication with faculty, service departments, and other students. Southwestern uses Google Apps for Education, which provides communication and collaboration tools for the campus and is accessed via the SU portal at southwestern.edu/my.

CAMPUS POST OFFICE
Red & Charline McCombs Campus Center (third floor)
512.863.1576

Is there mail service on campus? Yes! The campus post office is located on the third floor of the McCombs Center. The service window is open Monday–Friday, 8:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m. for students to pick up packages, mail packages, and purchase stamps and envelopes. The post office accepts cash and Pirate Buc$ only. Student mail boxes are accessible anytime the McCombs Campus Center is open.

How do I mail or ship items to my student? Your student’s school address includes an SU box number that is essential in order to ensure timely delivery of their mail. Students are sent an email when a package arrives. They must present their Pirate Card at the service information desk for package pick-up. All mail and packages should be addressed as follows:

Student’s name
SU Box XXXX
1001 E. University Avenue
Georgetown, TX 78626

How may I begin shipping packages for my student to pick up at move-in? Shipped packages from Amazon, Target, etc. may be shipped beginning August 1. They will be held for pick-up once students move to campus. The campus post office will be open Saturday, August 19 from 9:00 a.m.–2:00 p.m.

PIRATE CARDS
Smith Library Center
512.819.7333
southwestern.edu/library-and-it/infodesk/pirate-card

The Pirate Card is your student’s access to the Robertson Center and the Smith Library Center as well as their dining card for their meal plan. Many buildings on campus may be accessed by students by swiping their Pirate Card at the entrance. The Pirate Card offers Pirate Buc$, a convenient and cashless way to pay on campus. As a prepaid, stored-value account, Pirate Buc$ can be used to pay for meals, goods, services, and much more. For a list of places where Pirate Buc$ are accepted, visit southwestern.edu/offices/pirate-card.

My student doesn’t have a Pirate Card yet. When will they get one? There will be an opportunity to email a photo this summer and receive their Pirate Card at Sprog or move-in.

How can I add Pirate Buc$? Can I view my student’s purchases? Family members may add money to a student Pirate Buc$ account by visiting southwestern.edu/offices/pirate-card. Click on “LOG IN TO YOUR PIRATE CARD ACCOUNT” and choose the option “Add Money to a Student’s Account.” You will need your student’s Pirate Card ID number and a Visa, Mastercard, or Discover card. Although family members may deposit money, only students may view their account balance and history.

Don’t miss a single message from Southwestern! The University will send monthly e-newsletters, important billing information, urgent updates from campus, messages from the President, and event invitations. Provide your contact information by visiting southwestern.edu/parentinfoform.
My student is moving to campus early for athletics practice. Will their Pirate Card be activated? Fall athletes will be able to use their cards; however, Pirate Buc$ associated with the meal plan will be activated the Friday prior to classes beginning. It is recommended that parents or students add Pirate Buc$ to their accounts for use of campus vending machines during the first few days.

Is it too soon for my student to visit the Center for Career & Professional Development? No! We recommend students visit “early and often!” The Center for Career & Professional Development (CCPD) encourages students to “begin with the end in mind”—that is, prioritize exploring and preparing to reach long-term goals from day one. Exploring and deciding among the many diverse career options open to bright, curious liberal arts students is an important task and takes time. Taking time each semester to break career development into manageable pieces helps students succeed. The CCPD supports students and alumni as they create well-managed lives, develop 21st-century skills, shape their identities, make meaning of their academic experiences, and contribute as global citizens.
The Center for Integrative Learning includes the offices of Community-Engaged Learning, Internships, Study Abroad, and Undergraduate Research. Through high-impact experiences, students learn to reflect on their understanding of the world and explore connections across subjects, borders, economic systems, and varying ways of life. These life-changing experiences promote skills development and the application of knowledge and learning in professional, global, and community settings.

Center for Integrative Learning initiatives include:
- CELSA (Community-Engaged Learning Student Associates) positions
- Community-Engaged Learning classes
- Engagement with local nonprofit organizations
- Internships
- Internships abroad
- Internship funding through the Funded Internship Program
- King Creativity Fund
- Research abroad
- Research and Creative Works Symposium

When can my student do a high-impact experience?
We encourage students to start learning about high-impact experiences during their first year. Students can apply for King Creativity funds as soon as they arrive on campus. Students can search for community-engaged learning (courses featuring an opportunity to collaborate on a local or regional project) as early as the first semester. These unique courses are noted in the course catalog. Students can study abroad, participate in summer research, or intern as soon as the summer after their first year. We encourage your student to attend Internships 101, the Study Abroad Fair, Study Abroad 101, and undergraduate research sessions during the first semester.

Is there funding associated with high-impact experiences?
Yes! There are several ways to fund high-impact experiences. Southwestern awards over $200,000 annually for study abroad scholarships, and $150,000 for unpaid or underpaid internships. Study abroad and away opportunities allow students to use federal financial aid, and for select programs, students may use SU merit aid. CELSAs are paid work-study positions at local nonprofits, and SCOPE scholars receive a stipend in addition to summer housing for full-time research alongside Southwestern faculty mentors and other student scholars.
HEALTH & COUNSELING CENTER
Charles and Elizabeth Prothro Center for Lifelong Learning (second floor)
512.863.1252
southwestern.edu/health-center and southwestern.edu/counseling-center

HEALTH SERVICES
- Management of acute and chronic illness
- Point-of-care diagnostic testing for the flu, COVID-19, strep throat, mono, H. pylori, urine dipstick, and pregnancy
- Physical exams for study abroad programs, internships, and camps
- Prescriptions (when indicated) sent to the student’s pharmacy of choice
- Well-woman exams, birth control information, and prescriptions
- Laboratory testing, including STI screening
- Seasonal flu vaccines

✧ When can my student visit the Health Center, and who will treat them?
The Health Center is open Monday–Friday, 8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m. during the fall and spring semesters. Appointments are strongly recommended, and same-day appointments are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Our team of healthcare professionals includes physicians, advanced practice clinicians, and a registered nurse. Our services include treatment of common illnesses and chronic conditions, medication management, wellness exams, physicals, laboratory testing, and prescriptions. When appropriate, we will make referrals to off-campus resources and specialists. The Health Center does not provide emergency care. Students should always call 911 for life-threatening emergencies. A list of local after-hours resources can be found at southwestern.edu/health-center.

✧ Does my student need health insurance?
All students are required to have an active health insurance policy at all times, and students should always bring a copy of their most current health insurance card to all appointments. The Health Center will see all students regardless of what health insurance coverage they have. All students will be automatically enrolled in a student health insurance plan unless they opt out. They may waive the auto-enrollment by entering their current health insurance information before the deadline at eiiastudent.org/southwestern.

COUNSELING SERVICES
- Individual counseling
- Relational counseling
- Group counseling
- Motivation and stress management

The Counseling Center provides confidential, short-term counseling regarding personal issues. Southwestern students may seek counseling for a wide variety of concerns, including adjustment to college, making friends, motivation, depression, anxiety, sexuality, body image, eating disorders, sexual assault, alcohol or drug abuse, stress management, bereavement, family issues, and romantic relationships. Counseling Center staff members also offer outreach programs, group counseling, and referrals to off-campus professionals for psychiatric medications and long-term counseling. While the counselors at Southwestern represent varied areas of expertise and diverse personal backgrounds, they all have training in helping college students grow through the personal problems they occasionally encounter.

✧ What can parents do if a time comes when they have concerns about their student's emotional welfare?
Parents are welcome to call the Counseling Center to talk with a counselor about their student. Because of confidentiality laws, the counselor typically cannot disclose whether their student is a client but can listen to the parents’ concerns and help them explore various strategies for offering support and assistance.

Remember how you told your students to eat their veggies growing up? Well, we’re the new “broccoli” in their lives! The Center for Career & Professional Development would love to partner with you to make sure your student has a nutritious college experience. We know students are busy and investing time in their future professional development may not seem as tasty as other options. So, please help us help your students by encouraging them to get to know the CCPD early and connect often with us. Exploring major and career options, building marketable skills and experience, and successfully engaging in searches for internships, jobs, graduate school, and other opportunities are all career development processes with which the CCPD is here to help your student.

on academic success and the overall quality of the educational experience while striving for excellence on the playing field. The primary goal is for our athletics programs to reflect Southwestern’s commitment to the principles of sportsmanship, ethical conduct, honesty, fairness, and respect for others, emphasizing the health and welfare of the student-athletes. The Athletic Department at Southwestern works with other campus constituencies to implement programs that provide fair and equitable treatment of all athletes while maintaining focus on a values-centered education of the whole person. Faculty members play an important role in helping student-athletes balance the rigors of their academic studies with the challenges of intercollegiate athletic participation, and because of this partnership, Southwestern has graduated a significant number of outstanding student-athletes who have distinguished themselves as scholars and as athletes.

What impact does participating in intercollegiate athletics have on students academically? It appears to be minimal as the average GPA for student-athletes is usually comparable to the overall average student GPA.

What about missing classes? Are the athletes excused? Team travel is considered a University “field trip” under the excused absence policy. Student-athletes must work closely with their professors and discuss missed classwork in advance of the absence. Southwestern faculty are generally very supportive of student-athletes.

My student was not recruited; can they still make the team? It is possible. Varsity athletics are competitive at Southwestern, and our coaches recruit throughout the year to fill their team rosters with qualified student-athletes. However, the tryout process is open to all students, and those wishing to seek a position are encouraged to contact the respective coach to immediately declare their intention.

How good are the athletic programs at Southwestern? Excellent and highly competitive. Our teams have won multiple conference championships, and many teams have competed in NCAA Regional and National Championships. Our goal is to become one of the top Division III programs in the country!

Southwestern Intramural and Recreational Activities (SIRA) provides the University community with opportunities for physical, social, and educational development through participation in intramural sports, fitness and wellness classes, sport clubs, and outdoor adventure programs.

- Intramural sports
- Fitness classes: Boot Camp, Yoga, and Zumba
- SU Climbing Club, SU Cheerleaders, and SU Pom Squad
- Outdoor adventure trips: Rock climbing, kayaking, and camping
- Camping and sports equipment that can be checked out for weekend use at no cost to SU community members.

Is any experience necessary to participate in intramural and recreational activities? No experience is necessary, and the majority of activities can accommodate students of all ability levels.

Is there any cost to participate? Many activities are free to current students. However, the sport clubs charge dues, and all fitness classes have a modest participation fee (e.g., a $20 fee for 7–8 weeks of class one day per week).

Residence halls are a vital part of the Southwestern campus community, complementing the educational program by providing an atmosphere conducive to meeting students’ academic, social, and personal needs. Students who have completed less than four full semesters are required to live on campus. Students living in traditional residence halls are required to participate in the meal plans provided by

Is there an adult in the residence halls? Yes. Although Southwestern considers its students young adults, it also recognizes the adjustments college students—and especially first-year students—are attempting to manage. There are five professional staff members who are employed by the University and live on campus to help with building community, managing crises, and handling emergencies.

What are the roles of resident assistants (RAs)? Selected upper-division students hold positions of responsibility within the residence halls. These students, called resident assistants (RAs), provide direct assistance to the students in their living area by providing information, helping to ensure that University community standards are met through brief counseling and/or referral; offering acquaintanceship; fulfilling basic administrative tasks; and helping to organize interesting educational, social, and recreational events and programs.

What is your alcohol policy? Texas law prohibits anyone under the age of 21 from consuming alcoholic beverages or partaking in marijuana or illegal drugs. Southwestern complies with and enforces all local, state, and federal laws pertaining to both alcohol and other drugs. Violation of any law or regulation relating to alcoholic beverages or drugs constitutes a violation of University policy and will subject the individual/group to University disciplinary action irrespective of whether the offender is subjected to criminal penalties. Students 21 and older are allowed to consume alcohol in their private rooms. Student organizations must register and receive approval for events where alcohol will be allowed.

Are there any curfews? What are the policies regarding coed visitation? There are no curfews in the residence halls. In first-year halls, visitation ends at midnight Sunday through Thursday and at 2:00 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Guests of students are required to have escorts around the halls.

How do you reconcile differences between roommates or suitemates? RAs and sometimes professional staff use roommate contracts and meetings between the students to reconcile differences. Although this normally works, students are allowed to change roommates if an unresolvable situation exists. The Southwestern residence life philosophy is that no situation in the residence halls should be allowed to negatively affect a student’s academic experience.

How much does it cost to do a load of laundry? How accessible are the machines? The cost is $1.25 per machine use, which the student can pay for by using any major credit card on the CSC Go app. Laundry rooms are located in all residence halls and in the Grogan and Betty Lord Community Center.

Is there a place to cash a check on campus? An ATM? Students may cash checks for up to $100 in the Business Office. An ATM is located in the Red & Charline McCombs Campus Center.

SPRITUAL & RELIGIOUS LIFE
Red & Charline McCombs Campus Center (third floor)
512.863.1527 • southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/spiritual-and-religious-life/

Consistent with the University’s Core Purpose and Values, the University Chaplain and Director of Spiritual and Religious Life offers opportunities for members of the University to enrich the spiritual dimension of their lives. Spiritual wellness is integral to a liberal arts educational experience. Therefore, through spiritual practices, studies and service activities, students, faculty, staff, and others can explore their spiritual identity; seek meaning and purpose in their lives and practice acts of service toward the well-being of humanity. Students not only learn about themselves, but also about the world in which they live and about the positive impact that their Southwestern Experience prepares them to make in this world. Intentional courageous conversations about difficult issues allows persons from diverse backgrounds and faith traditions to listen and learn from each other. Relationships of trust can be built through collectively engaging in projects to serve others.

Are there opportunities for spiritual growth on campus?
Several religious groups, advised by a member of the faculty or staff provide opportunities for worship gatherings, Scriptural and book studies, and small group meetings. The University Chaplain is available for counseling and mentoring. Students are also encouraged to find a local faith community in which to worship regularly. Each year the Office of the Chaplain hosts a brunch for new students to meet local faith community leaders. Many students visit local congregations with friends or roommates, often talking with upper-class students about where they worship or gather for religious services.

How can my student connect with other students around their faith? There are several student religious organizations on campus that offer opportunities for students to meet others from similar faith traditions and help one another grow on their faith journeys. A list of the organizations is available at southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/student-organizations/religious/.

Are religious holidays observed on campus?
Southwestern’s faculty work with students of all faith backgrounds to ensure they have the time necessary to celebrate or practice the special observances of their traditions. If your student needs accommodations for a religious holiday, encourage them to talk with their faculty to make the appropriate arrangements.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES
Red & Charline McCombs Campus Center (third floor)
512.863.1345 • southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/student-activities/

The mission of the Office of Student Activities is to act as an advisor, ally, educator, and mentor to the students of Southwestern University by facilitating learning experiences through leadership opportunities, student organizations, social activities, and services that promote personal growth and the empowerment of students for success in our diverse community and beyond. The office works closely with all student organizations, student leaders, and various University committees. Student Activities has responsibility for the development and coordination of campus-wide programming, leadership development, advising various student organizations, and Welcome Week.

How can my student get involved?
There will be a Student Involvement Fair early in the fall semester to give students an opportunity to visit with members from many of the 60+ organizations. A full list of all active organizations, descriptions of each, and contact information is available at southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/student-activities/organizations.

Is there anything to do on weekends?
Yes! Weekend programming includes nationally touring performances in The Cove every Friday night and monthly Saturday-night first-run movies, complete with freshly popped popcorn. The University Programming Council (UPC) is a group of students who plan, organize, and execute a variety of campus activities. Student Activities can provide more information about UPC membership.

Is there student government?
Yes. One benefit of university life is the opportunity for students to participate in their own governance. This opportunity comes through participation in the Southwestern Student Government Association (SGA) and other campus-wide committees. The SGA is a group of elected representatives who sponsor monthly meetings to inform students of campus issues and to provide a forum for concerns and opinions. In addition, students have the unique opportunity to participate with faculty and administrators in the major governing councils of the University.

When is social fraternity and sorority recruitment?
Deferred recruitment, held in January, provides students with a chance to get organized academically before joining a Greek organization. Recruitment information will be made available during the first semester. Students may also choose to wait until their sophomore year to join a fraternity or sorority.

What percentage of students pledge social fraternities and sororities?
Approximately 30% of Southwestern students are involved in Greek organizations. Southwestern has four national... social fraternities (Kappa Alpha Order, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, and Pi Kappa Alpha) and six national social sororities (Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta Chi, and Zeta Tau Alpha).

UNIVERSITY POLICE DEPARTMENT
Field House
supd@southwestern.edu
512.863.1944 (“0” from on-campus phones) • southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/safety-security/

The mission of the Southwestern University Police Department (SUPD) is to serve our diverse and inclusive community by promoting a safe, secure living and learning environment that fosters thinking, creativity, and connection. The SUPD accomplishes this mission by engaging with students, faculty, and staff under a community policing philosophy; by sponsoring a variety of proactive safety and awareness programs and events; and by protecting life and property through equal and unbiased enforcement of University policy as well as local, state, and federal laws. Each SUPD officer holds a master peace officer license. SUPD officers are always available to offer assistance when needed and patrol campus 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Is there any crime on campus? What are the crime statistics? Southwestern is not immune to crime. Most crimes on campus are crimes of opportunity, which include theft or criminal mischief. Crime statistics are kept on a calendar basis, are compiled in an annual report per the Campus Safety and Security Act of 1990, and are available on request or by accessing southwestern.edu/life-at-southwestern/safety-security/annual-security-reports/. The SUPD presents crime awareness programs throughout the year.

What measures are taken to ensure safety for students on campus? Campus grounds are patrolled 24 hours a day, 365 days a year by uniformed, armed, state-certified police officers. Officers patrol in highly visible vehicles and on foot for easy access to the interior of campus. Residence halls are locked 24 hours a day and are checked by SUPD and resident assistants on a regular basis. Police provide an on-campus escort for any student requesting one. The University has also instituted an Emergency Notification System to alert students, faculty, and staff about on-campus emergencies via telephone, email, and/or text message.

Where do students park their cars? What is the cost to keep a car on campus? Southwestern has parking lots throughout the campus for students, staff, and faculty. Students must register their vehicles with the SUPD by filling out a registration form at southwestern.edu/student-vehicles-registration. Once registered, the decal will be mailed to the campus post office box, and they will affix the decal to the driver side back window. All Southwestern students are automatically charged a vehicle registration fee of $100 per semester ($200 for the academic year). If a student does not park a vehicle on campus, the charge may be waived by completing the Vehicle Registration Waiver form online at tinyurl.com/parkingwaiver.

The online waiver form must be submitted each semester by the required deadline date. For Fall 2023, the waiver site will open May 1, 2023, and the online waiver must be completed by July 13, 2023, to receive the credit to the student account. For Spring 2024, the waiver site will open Nov. 1, 2023, and the online waiver must be completed by Dec. 7, 2023.
SOUTHWESTERN AND PARENTS

Southwestern University, like you, is focused on one outcome: the success of our students. Southwestern’s academic and student life programs seek to engage students’ minds and transform their lives through a rigorous liberal arts education and a vibrant residential campus. Our objectives are likely very similar to your own. We aim to help your student develop into an intelligent, resilient, responsible, productive, well-rounded young adult prepared to contribute to the well-being of humanity.

With these shared aspirations, we ask parents and family members of Southwestern students to partner with us. Taking responsibility for one’s own education is central to the Southwestern Experience. Southwestern offers an extensive network of resources so students can help themselves, solve problems, and build the confidence to manage their own educations. By learning to use these resources, students develop competencies that will serve them well in life.

We invite you to share our hope that Southwestern students and graduates will be confident, self-motivated young adults in charge of their lives, capable of dealing equally well with both challenges and opportunities and prepared to contribute to the world.

WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP MY STUDENT FROM A DISTANCE?

Here are some ways that you can enhance your student’s growth into adulthood as well as their experience at Southwestern. The following is adapted, with gratitude, from You’re on Your Own (But I’m Here if You Need Me): Mentoring Your Child during the College Years by Marjorie B. Savage (2009, revised edition):

1. Listen to their concerns. Even though your almost-adult is experimenting with independent choices, they still need to know that you’re there and available to talk about everyday events and difficult issues. If your student needs help or support, the subject is more likely to come up if you are not inquiring pointedly about what time they came in last night. Listen to the melody, not just the content. Do not trivialize any of your student’s concerns or emotions. Much of what they are saying is “I’m changing, and I’m scared,” even when the content is “I know what I am doing.”

2. Stay in touch (but not too much)! Remember the names of roommates and friends who are mentioned often. Encourage your student to send you pictures of their room and friends. Be interested but not intrusive. Send photos of family activities and pets as well as care packages at exam times.

3. Negotiate frequency of communication. Talk about how often you’ll speak on the phone, text, visit each other, or send emails. If an uncharacteristically long amount of time passes with no word, it’s not bad to check in and make sure everything is going smoothly.

4. Be willing to cut the cord. Encourage an appropriate level of independence and responsibility. Let them use their own judgment to decide what is best for them, and trust them to make good decisions. Teach them life skills such as how to do laundry, live on a budget, set up a checking account, and manage their time.

5. Help your student problem-solve. If your student calls home with a problem, stay calm. Practice reacting to such “melt-down calls.” For example, you could say, “I’m sorry you are having a rough time. How are you going to handle it?” Then coach; don’t rescue. Coach them in talking things through with their roommate or making their own phone calls to the professor. Encourage your student to use the University’s services instead of relying solely on you for help. On-campus professionals have a wealth of experience to quickly help resolve your student’s issue.

6. State your concerns. It is OK to ask whether they have thought about study habits, sexual conduct, or alcohol. As parents, you can send a clear message to your student that they can choose not to drink, and if they choose to use alcohol, they should do it moderately, legally, and appropriately. Don’t glorify your own “youthful drinking days” if you had them.

7. Don’t overburden your student with your own emotional issues. What you want is to be useful to them, and you will need to find someone else to help you with how you feel. They want to know you care, but they don’t want to know too much. Keep them informed, but grant them a little distance from any family problems that arise.

8. Encourage smart financial practices. Most students come to college with a fairly detailed plan about how tuition, room, board, and books will be paid for and what their family’s expectations are about spending money. Work together to set up a budget plan for the year. Warn your student not to apply for every credit card offered. Smart money management is a lifelong skill that will benefit your student.

9. Be realistic about academic achievement and grades. Southwestern attracts bright students from all over the country, but not every first-year student who excelled academically in high school will be a straight-A student here. Developing or refining the capacity to work independently and consistently and to demonstrate mastery can be more important than grades as long as the student meets the basic academic requirements set out by the University. Instead of focusing on grades, ask your student to discuss class projects and papers with you. Again, these are choices that each individual student makes, though certainly it is appropriate to coach your student in setting their own long-term goals.

10. Keep your cool. Students tend to share their good times with friends and rely on family in difficult times. Although a “melt-down call” may be troubling, it is a sign of trust. They are allowing themselves to be vulnerable with you. Try not to be overly reactive to their venting or jump to intervene.

11. If your student does experience difficulties at Southwestern, encourage them to take advantage of the wealth of resources available for students. The small and personal environment of the University offers many sources of help. For academic issues, talking with a professor or academic advisor is probably the first step, but the Center for Academic Success is also available to help. For stress, relationship problems, or more serious concerns, the Office of Counseling Services is available and free for students.

GREETINGS NEW PIRATE PARENTS!

I’m excited to welcome our new students for fall 2023! We are very excited to welcome you and your Pirates to Southwestern this summer at Sprog. Students will participate in curriculum planning, student life programming, advising, and registration during their two-day orientation. Students will also be assigned to an Orientation Leader who will guide and support them during Sprog and throughout the entire summer.

There will be a pre-registration process to help students enroll in key courses. Students will be pre-registered in most of their courses prior to Sprog. One course will be the First-Year Seminar (FYS, for first-year students) or Advanced-Entry Seminar (AES, for transfer students). The other course or courses will be introduction courses for their intended majors, when possible. If your student is undecided about their major, we will register them for general education courses. During Sprog, students will meet with their academic advisor to discuss additional courses and make any schedule adjustments.

So that we have the most recent and accurate information possible, we are requiring all incoming students to submit a survey to express their interests and provide us with additional information. The link to the survey is posted in the Checklist for Success. Students must complete the survey before June 7 to ensure enrollment in the courses. During Sprog, your student will participate in degree planning and advising sessions that will help them choose the rest of their fall courses. They will register for the remaining courses during Sprog, with help from their advisor, Orientation Leader, and University staff.

We will be offering Parent Orientation simultaneously with several sessions for you to participate in during your student’s Sprog. However, there will be sessions that are meant for students only. Orientation is structured with an intentional separation between student and parents/families so that students can better immerse themselves academically and socially in their new community. We invite you to review materials (degree plans, university catalog, etc.) and discuss potential majors and course options with your student prior to their Sprog sessions. Your partnership is critical to your student’s success at Southwestern. As such, we have created sessions as part of the Sprog program and throughout the next few months to prepare you for life as the parent of a Pirate. We hope that you will provide your students with support as they make independent decisions and encourage them to explore new opportunities for growth and development. Know that University faculty and staff are dedicated to helping your student create a rich and meaningful Southwestern Experience.
