Southwestern University is located in historic Georgetown, just a short drive north of Austin—the social, cultural, and political center of Texas. With an average annual high temperature of 79 degrees, it’s an excellent location for a number of year-round outdoor activities, cultural events, live music, and of course, great food.

Additionally, Business Insider found the Austin area to be one of the most desirable places for recent college graduates to live and work. Our close proximity to the Texas capital provides students with access to a wide range of internships, volunteer programs, and an abundance of employment opportunities. ABOUT ADMISSION

General Information

REQUIREMENTS

Students submitting a transfer application must complete a minimum of 12 credits prior to semester of entry (this excludes dual credit, concurrent enrollment, early college, and courses taken the summer immediately after high-school graduation). Southwestern evaluates all candidates using multiple factors to help reach admission decisions. Beyond the admission application, Southwestern requires a written essay, official high-school and college transcripts, and a College Conduct Report. Instructor evaluations, a personal statement, copies of SAT or ACT score results, and the personal interview are optional. Please note that Southwestern requires full-time enrollment and offers a traditional learning environment; evening, weekend, or online courses are not offered.

RECOMMENDED GPA

While we have no GPA minimums, successful candidates generally earn a 3.0 GPA or better in full-time college-level work. Developmental courses will not be considered when calculating a GPA.

CREDIT EVALUATION

Once admitted, the Office of the Registrar will complete an official external transfer credit evaluation. Students will receive this information before they are required to submit an enrollment deposit. A minimum of 64 total credits (two years) and 60% of your major must be completed at Southwestern in order to earn a degree. Southwestern accepts a grade of C– or better on all transferable nondevelopmental coursework. Online coursework is generally reviewed on a course-by-course basis for transferability. Students needing assistance with coursework selection prior to transferring should contact the Admission Office for guidance.

HOUSING POLICY

Students who have had less than four full-time semesters or less than 48 combined hours in college* will be required to live in University residence halls (if space is available) and must purchase a meal plan from the University’s food service provider, if applicable. Military veterans and students who are 22 years of age or older, married, or have children are exempt from this housing policy. Students who wish to appeal the stated policy based on extenuating circumstances are asked to submit a housing exemption form for committee review.

PARTNER INSTITUTIONS

Southwestern has developed specific academic associations with community colleges that regularly enroll transfer students at our institution. These partnerships include Austin Community College, Central Texas College, Collin College, North Central Texas College, Tarrant County College, and Temple College.

*Excludes dual credit, concurrent enrollment, early college, and courses taken the summer immediately after high-school graduation.
A SOUTHWESTERN TRADITION
During their last semester, seniors climb the spiral staircase of Cullen Tower to sign the tower’s walls, adding their signatures to those of former students from over 100 years ago.
SCHOLARSHIPS

Get Rewarded

UPFRONT SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Southwestern offers a comprehensive program of scholarships and awards to transfer students with strong academic preparation. Please note: Your application for admission will also serve as your application for general scholarships.

The average transfer student merit scholarship is $19,000 per year.

GENERAL SCHOLARSHIP DEADLINES

Applications must be submitted before July 1 for fall semester enrollment and before November 15 for spring semester enrollment.

FINCH SCHOLARSHIP

Southwestern’s Finch Scholarships are awarded in the following amounts annually, depending on a recalculation of your cumulative GPA in transferable nondevelopmental coursework:

- $22,000 — 3.7 to 4.0 cumulative GPA
- $19,000 — 3.4 to 3.6 cumulative GPA
- $15,000 — 3.0 to 3.3 cumulative GPA

PTK AND NSCS ADD-ON SCHOLARSHIP

HYER SCHOLARSHIP

Transfer students in their first year of college (with 30 hours* or less) who submitted a freshman application to Southwestern and were offered admission the previous semester or year are eligible to have their freshman scholarship reinstated if the amount is greater than the Finch Scholarship. Please note: This scholarship cannot be combined with the PTK/NSCS Scholarship.

*Excludes dual credit, concurrent enrollment, early college, and courses taken the summer immediately after high-school graduation.
LEGACY SCHOLARSHIP

Legacy students (defined as children or grandchildren of Southwestern alumni or as siblings of alumni or current students) enrolling at Southwestern will be eligible for an annual scholarship of $1,000.

SAROFIM FINE ARTS AWARDS

Music, Theatre, and Art Scholarships

Sarofim scholarships often will have the additional criteria of an audition or portfolio submission. Students choosing to major in the fine arts are eligible for awards in vocal and instrumental music, theatre (acting or design), or studio art. See the Sarofim School of Fine Arts webpage for scholarship amounts, requirements, dates, and general information: southwestern.edu/sarofim.

THE FINE PRINT

Scholarship GPA evaluations are based on a minimum of 12 transferable credits. Amounts are awarded based on availability of funds. Southwestern admission staff will recalculate a GPA when a student has attended multiple institutions. Developmental courses are excluded when factoring overall GPA. All scholarships and financial aid require admission to be awarded. The total amount of Southwestern merit- or need-based scholarships, awards, or grants cannot exceed the cost of tuition. Once awarded, a minimum Southwestern GPA is required to retain scholarships and financial aid from semester to semester.
